

Coach Larry Greene

by Erin

For six years, Mr. Greene valiantly battled Multiple Myeloma while maintaining the powerful relationships with students, players, and faculty for which he is known and remembered.

"Mr. Greene was admired and loved by all who were fortunate enough to receive his remarkable influence," explained his colleague, Mr. Kelly. "He found unique ways to relate to each of his students, both in Special Education classes and in co-taught classes."

Over this trying period, he continued to come to work, persevering through days where he struggled to get out of bed to bolster the community that had grown to rely on his imperturbable spirit.

Said Kelly, "As a coach, he was able to have an even deeper impact on the development of student-athletes, both young men and women. From the players on the field to the managers on the sidelines, Coach Greene epitomized the role of a coach. He provided structure and discipline, guidance and direction, support and love. As a co-worker, both to his colleagues here at East and his assistants on the football field, Mr. Greene genuinely cared about who you were as a person."

His rare form of cancer, Multiple Myeloma, is an especially taxing form in which the cancer begins in the bone marrow, forming tumors of solid bone, making it difficult for healthy blood cells and platelets to form and travel throughout the body.

However, explains Ms. Bergner, another colleague of his in the Special Education Department, "No challenge was too great for him...there were many days over the past few years when he would leave for a medical treatment during his third block planning period and return to teach his fourth block class. Not once in seven years did any of us hear him complain."

Through incredible physical struggle, he continued his tremendous impact on the community. Said Bergner, "When I first came to East, Mr. Greene's message as the head of the Special Education department was that students should always come first...he had a remarkable rapport with his students and colleagues that just came naturally."

Mr. Kelly furthered this notion, explaining, "I will never forget the impact that he has had, and will continue to have, on my career. He taught me how to be a better coach, teacher, and friend. As great as his impact has been on me personally, his impact on the community has been even more remarkable. The number of students, athletes, staff members, parents, and community members that he has impacted is too extraordinary to quantify. He is leaving a lasting mark on the entire Central Bucks community."

Although many never had the chance to meet Mr. Greene personally, his lasting impression upon our school, our peers, and our community speaks volumes for his affable personality and exceptional skill as a teacher.

"Oftentimes we read and hear in the media remarks about how today's generation of students are not as committed to learning as their parents and grandparents. Last year, as I was passing by Mr. Greene's room during classes, he stopped me to simply share that each year he found the students to be more enjoyable to teach and that he enjoyed teaching more and more with each passing year. This is clearly an example of how he felt about his students and his job. He loved kids, and it showed," said Bergner.

Mr. Kelly, his fellow coach and longtime friend, provided a powerful summation of Mr. Greene, explaining, "Whenever you needed to brighten your day, all you needed to do was spend a brief moment with Mr. Greene. You would immediately push aside your stress, pain, or frustration and experience the joy, wisdom, and graciousness that Mr. Greene would always deliver."

CB East Student Wins Personal Finance Jeopardy

CB East's Tim competed against fellow high school seniors from each of the following high schools: Abington, Bensalem, Central Bucks East, Imhotep Institute Charter, Neshaminy, Plymouth Whitemarsh, Radnor, Roman Catholic, William Tennent, and Upper Dublin, to take home the $5,000 grand prize scholarship in the TruMark Financial's 6th Annual Financial Jeopardy Game on May 8th. At the end of the competition, TruMark Financial awarded three scholarships – a $5,000 grand prize, a $3,000 second prize, and a $2,000 third prize – to the students faring best in the Jeopardy, Double Jeopardy, and Final Jeopardy rounds of the game.

TruMark Financial's Jeopardy Game focused on financial categories such as banking, credit, taxes, budgeting, and investments. Joseph Wambach, executive director at the Pennsylvania Credit Union Foundation, was invited to address the student participants and their guests about the increasing importance of teaching financial responsibility to our youth. The Financial Jeopardy Game is an extension of TruMark Financial's financial literacy programs. TruMark Financial employees visit local high schools and conduct presentations on topics such as banking, establishing and maintaining good credit, budgeting, and investing.

Tim will major in finance and economics in the Fall at Penn State.

MR. EAST Competition

by Madi

After four months of practice, one of the oldest CB East traditions, the Mr. East Competition, was held on April 26th, and it was no disappointment. Contestants performed in an opening dance, showed off their swimwear, shared hidden talents, took part in a tuxedo competition with their escorts, and demonstrated their quick thinking in a question-and-answer portion of the night.

Competitors this year included sophomore Matt, juniors Dan, Ryan, Richard, and Brett, and seniors Andrew, Pete, Ben, Evan, Chris, Kyle, Tim, and Richie. The theme this year was Disney characters, and each of the competitors chose a different character to represent during the night, ranging from Mickey Mouse to Captain Jack Sparrow.

After a night filled with dancing and hijinks but also the first ever Mr. East Hot Dog Eating Competition, the winners of the evening were announced. Seniors Pete and Andrew took home third and second place, respectively, with senior Kyle receiving the title of this year's Mr. East.

All of the guys expressed thanks towards the advisors and students who worked hard to make this event a possibility, specifically Ms. Dicks, Mr. Gorlick, Mrs. Fabrey, Sarah, Zoe, Lizzie, and Julia, and ended the evening huddled on stage singing together as the audience began to leave. If you weren't able to make it to this year's Mr. East, make sure you don't miss out next year!

WEST SIDE STORY

A Group Effort by Kyle

In recent years, Patriot Players has established itself within the district as a theatre group that not only puts on large productions, but that also sells out of tickets fairly quickly. This year's spring production of the musical West Side Story was no exception. On April 12th, 13th, and 14th, the Central Bucks East Patriot Players performed this beloved musical to crowds that had been sold-out for over a month in advance. Part of this is due to the popularity of this musical, while the stellar publicity team led by Mrs. Fichtman also deserves much of the credit.

A modern-day retelling of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, the musical takes place in 1950s New York and chronicles a love between members of two rival gangs, the American Jets and the Puerto Rican Sharks. It includes such classic songs as "Tonight," "I Feel Pretty," and "Somewhere," and is held by many to be one of the greatest musicals ever written.

Over 70 students participated in the cast, with the student stage crew and pit bringing the total number of participants to well over 150 students. The group rehearsed for about four months after school and on weekends, while the pit also worked during this time to tackle the infamously difficult score and the crew worked diligently to finish the elaborate set.

Congratulations and thanks go to Mrs. Eisenberg, Mrs. Fichtman, Mr. Villante, and Mr. Morehouse for the countless hours they put in to make this show a possibility. Next up for Patriot Players is a production of the Pulitzer-Prize winning play Proof and a production of an original one-act play written by student Hunter entitled A Night in Beverly.

SPRING SPORTS

East Baseball Wins SOL Continental Conference

by Blair

Shortly after CB East won the SOL Continental Conference, sophomore David tweeted, "So happy I'm a part of this amazing squad. Going to bed a happy camper tonight #cbebaseball #letsgodistricts." An obvious fan favorite, David leads the team in runs scored (22) and has posted an impressive .388 batting average. His heart and smile are the backbone of the successful baseball team: a team that has just captured its first conference title in 12 years.

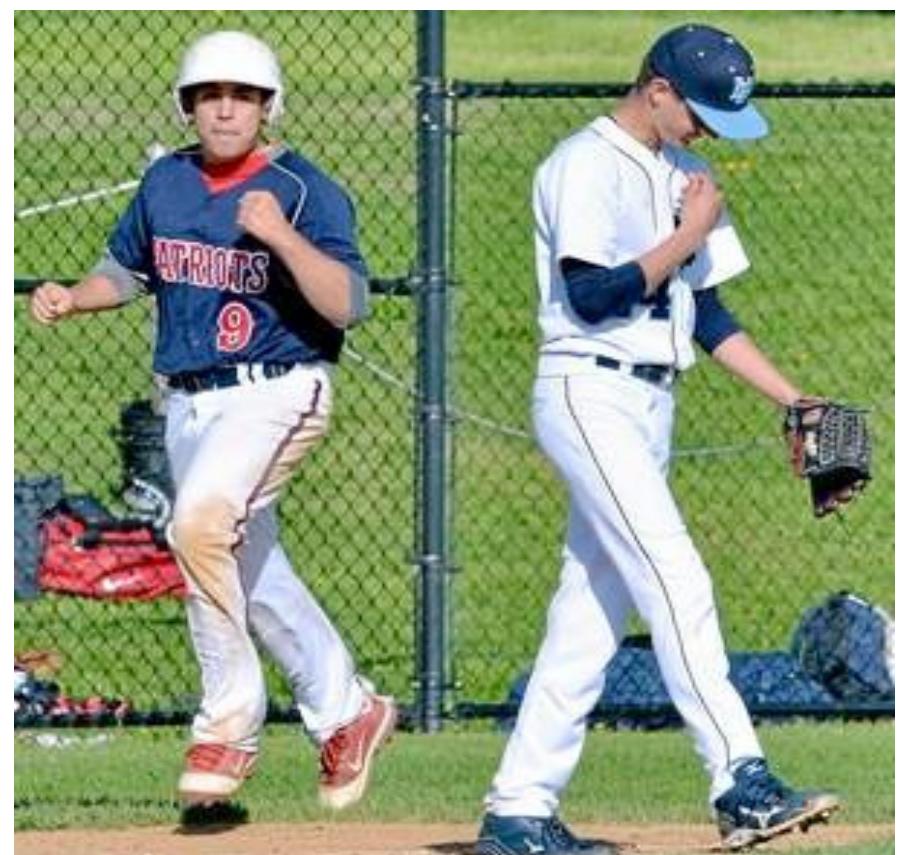

Senior outfielder, Vince, does not have a twitter, but shares David's excitement and spirit over the team's success. Vince has played well, leading the team in a batting average of .407 and has an on base percentage of .529. As a leadoff hitter, Vince has adopted the motto, "If one of us hits, we all hit." Game after the game he rallies the team and makes plays. Other standout hitters this year are 1B Ethan (.386, 10 2Bs), LF Sean (.357, 3 3Bs), and Ben (.396, 24 RBIs).

Exceptional pitching by seniors Robbie (5-1, 2.40 ERA, 48 Ks) and Blair (6-1, 1.69 ERA) has kept East in every game. The pitching staff is incredibly deep and will be a strong asset as the team work their way through the playoffs. The defense has been superb for a high school baseball team, almost always making the routine play and making the occasional web-gem. The defining separation of East from other teams is the depth to the bench. The bench players of CB East bring an unparalleled level of intensity and juice. In two games this season the bench has outscored its opponents 26-5. When asked about the bench chemistry senior co-captain Dan commented, "We are hungry like the wolf."

Just how far will East make it in the playoffs this year? Well they have earned home-field advantage so come out and see for yourself.

East Shares its Artistic Side

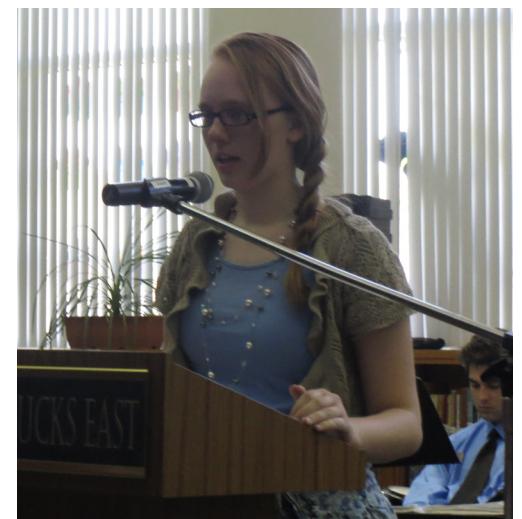

by Madi

The East English department put together the Eighth Annual Jazz and Poetry Festival on April 26 to commemorate National Jazz and Poetry months. The festivities, hosted by Mrs. Mullis and Mr. Morehouse, began during first block as many students enlightened the audience with poems that focused on dreams, hope, nature, relationships, and social/political issues in the world. Additionally, there were a host of selections read in foreign languages (including one special poem spoken in Chinese) that made for a memorable day. During fourth block, the students had a chance to listen to most of the honorees in the Bucks County High School Poet of the Year contest recite their favorite pieces.

Throughout the day, Mr. Morehouse and the jazz band also performed a host of songs that entertained the crowd, which was highlighted by numerous solo performances by our incredibly talented students. The jazz band began and ended every session with a selection of tunes that captured the mood of the poetry topics, and their performances even included a guitar solo from Mr. Mussari. Finally, Mr. Morehouse capped off the day by having the symphonic band perform on the auditorium stage.

Rosemary shares her thoughts on poetry with the audience before reading "La Foret."

Junior Mariah takes the stage as one of the volunteers who chose a poem special to them to share during the festival.

The CB East Jazz Band performs Brant Karrick's "Sea Rock City" for the festival audience.

SENIORS, WHAT'S NEXT?

Ever wonder where some of your friends may be going once they finish their time at East? Well, thanks to seniors Madison and Matthew, a comprehensive list* of where all of this year's senior class will be going to school or serving in the military. Take a look!

*this list is as of the college enrollment deadline: May 23, 2013. Any late enrollments/waitlists may not be included.
