DECEMBER'S BOOMERANG ASSET #22 School Engagement

From our home to yours...

Wishing our friends of CB Cares the Joy of Family, the Happiness of Friends, and the Wonder of the Holiday Season.

BOOMERANG YOUTH RECOGNITION AWARD

The following students represent the Boomerang Youth Recognition Award recipients for November's Asset, #40 Positive View of Personal Future.

Young person is optimistic about his/her own future and strives to reach his/her goals. He/she demonstrates strong efforts to achieve their goals whatever they may be.

Grace Langdon dreams of being a teacher when she grows up. She's held this dream ever since entering Kindergarten. At the end of each and every school day, Grace makes her way to my worn, wooden chair and finds the center seat at the U-shaped table and begins to read aloud. You won't see her students gathered around her, but she does. In her mind's eye her very own students are pulled in close and listening. She practices the craft of teaching each and every day...holding the book a way a teacher would, reading the way a teacher would – with a strong, clear voice; relying on her expression to captivate her students' attention and her enthusiasm to inspire a love for story and learning. Grace not only reads stories aloud, but she also pauses to check for understanding, asks questions, and shares her thinking about the book she is reading Grace exemplifies this month's asset.

Middle School: Johanna Wunder, 8th grade, Tamanend

Johanna consistently demonstrates an optimistic view of her future. She understands hard work is necessary to turn her dreams into reality and lives this each and every day. Johanna is already planning for her future. She regularly talks about medical careers and colleges with good programs and has researched both. Her little sister was born prematurely and was in the NICU for 142 days. Johanna visited the NICU many, many times. She made bracelets and sold them to raise money for the March of Dimes and presented at the Vygon National Sales Meeting in Blue Bell to several hundred NICU equipment sales people to tell them what life is like as a family member of a NICU baby. She left a lasting impression and the company donated $1200 in Johanna's name to the March of Dimes. Johanna believes in herself and knows her future will be bright. Her favorite quote is by Eleanor Roosevelt, 'The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams.' This perfectly sums up Johanna!

High School: Macella Molenari, 12th grade, CB West

Macella Molenari has a clear vision of what she wants to do and has the right blend of intelligence, determination, and personality to do it. Macella wants to be the White House Press Secretary. She watches the news and keeps up to date with events around the world. She gets the big picture and can match many adults in terms of knowledge of politics and current events. Macella also has the perfect personality for the job. She is currently senior class president, and her election speech was a combination of quick-witted self-deprecation, seriousness, and understanding the world around her. Macella has been integral to the success of the Mock Trial team, taking the role of an attorney, which requires quick thinking on the fly, the ability to answer and create questions, and a dexterity with language that allows one to communicate to all levels of people. In terms of preparation and hard work, Macella is virtually peerless. She has worked hard her entire academic career so that when it came time to apply to colleges, she'd have the grades and the résumé to get into the schools that will put her in the position to achieve her goals. Now that it's her senior year, it's paying off, and she has put herself on the right track to Washington. It's not a matter of if she's going to make a huge difference in the American government; it's just a matter of when.

Congratulations to these students and all of those students who were nominated.
