

Bichon Frise

Rosie L.

Think about one day you coming home to find a tiny white fluff-ball full of energy, joy, and happiness just waiting for you at the door to greet you. Or think about you coming home one day tired and just need to rest. You are needing someone to just cheer you up and give you enough energy to finish the rest of the day and you have them cheer you up to give you that energy. You might say finding the right dog is just like finding a pebble in a cornfield but, you may actually might say the exact opposite and say finding the right dog is just a piece of cake. There are many types of dogs. There are small dogs, big dogs, medium size dogs, fluffy dogs, scruffy dogs, messy dogs, clean dogs, etc... As you can see there are many types of dogs to choose from when you are looking for the dog that is going to fit you best. That is what makes finding the right dog for you and finding the dog that is going to fit you best like finding a pebble in a cornfield. But, there is just one dog that will fit that just right section of a dog breed. That is the Bichon Frise {Bee – Shon – Freeze}. Have you ever heard of a Bichon Frise? A Bichon Frise is not too small and not too big and right about at the size you would call medium. When it comes to finding the right dog you should try a Bichon Frise. Bichon Frise are the best dog breed you could ever have. They are the best dog breed you could ever have because they are very active and energetic to help you through the day when maybe you are too tired, they are very friendly making them also very gentle and sweet, and finally they are very easy to take care of for many reasons.

To start out with, Bichon Frise are very active. They are active in many ways for example, they are always full of energy, making them be able to always have fun all the time. As asked before, "Don't you want to come home everyday to find a tiny white fluff ball full of energy, joy and, happiness or would you want to come home from some where tired one day and have your dog give you enough energy and just enough happiness to just finish or continue the rest of the day". As you might start to notice in the first month of having a dog their ways of fun sometimes might be the same way as yours or sometimes maybe their ways of having fun are completely different than yours and this is normal. It is almost one hundred percent that your dog will have different ways of having fun. Even if your ways are different it is guaranteed you will still have a lot of fun with them because they are always full of energy. Some things they do when they want to have fun is race. As said before Bichon Frise are very energetic so they just love running or sometimes maybe just walking with you somewhere even if it is just a small walk from the end of the block to the other end and back. Another thing that they like to do when they want to have fun is throwing a ball. It is not guaranteed that they will always bring it back to you, but it still can be really fun. When it comes to playing with other dogs it may look sometimes like they are wrestling but, when they do they are just playing around and that proves how they have many ways of having fun for them and that their ways can be very different than yours. Sometimes when they are playing alone Bichon Frise will take a simple bone or a simple rope. As a recommendation when you want to buy a dog toy I recommend not buying something with a squeaker in it. That is because you need to make sure that your dog can not choke on the toy in any way if it's from the stuffing like in a stuffed animal or it could be a simple piece of string from a rope toy and now you can see when your dog is playing alone you need to make sure they have the right toys to play with and the safe ones too. Many people don't want dogs sometimes because they think they will just be too much work or maybe they are too expensive. Another thing people might say is they are too crazy. None of that is true because the best part about having a dog is the fun of taking care of them, but if you don't take care of them the right way then taking care of them won't be fun for you. As you can see Bichon Frise are very active and energetic dogs.

Additionally, Bichon Frise are very friendly making them also very gentle. Something that was asked before was "Wouldn't you want to come home every day to see them waiting for you at the door". Or come home sad, tired, or disappointed in some thing that had happened in your day and have them just cheer you right up and help you finish the rest of the day with enough energy and happiness. Many dogs are friendly but specifically Bichon Frise are. Every person when they are looking for a dog look for the perfect one but the truth is no dog is perfect. When you are finding the right dog you just have to look for one that fits you the best meaning that it matches all the characteristics that you want them to have and the dog has to stand out in front of all of the other dogs you are looking at. When people are trying to look for the perfect dog its hard. Its like catching a running cheetah at it's fastest speed. It is highly impossible to catch it or in this case it is highly impossible to find the perfect dog because the perfect dog never even exists. When anybody looks for a dog one of the characteristics they look for is the dog being friendly or active. That is exactly what a Bichon Frise is. Bichon Frise are a very gentle dog breed. As you might have heard the phrase " A dog is a mans best friend". Bichon Frise are a very nice companion to have some times because they are always by your side. Wouldn't you want a dog that you can always no matter what count on to be there right by your side. As said before no dog is perfect but even if the dog you are looking at is not perfect you will know which one still fits you best. Don't you want to have someone that will always be by your side and will be your forever companion or someone to help you feel better when you are feeling bad. If you want that then the perfect way to get that is get a Bichon Frise that will be your companion forever no matter what happens. As you can see Bichon Frise are a very friendly and very gentle dog breed to have.

In addition, Bichon Frise are very easy to take care of. There are many different ways that Bichon are easy to take care of but some of the main ones are how the dog breed of a Bichon is small. Their max weight is about 15-20 pound but, as a recommendation they should probably be around fifteen to seventeen pounds. There is many good things coming from them being small. For example, when you need to buy them a crate the bigger it is the more expensive it will be so the smaller the dog is the less expensive the crate will be. As you might know many dog breeds need crates for sleeping and many other dog breeds don't need crates for sleeping. The dog breed of a Bichon actually does need a crate but, because of a Bichon's size the crate does not cost that much to purchase. You might wonder "What food do I buy?" Or maybe you might wonder "What do I give them as a drink?". All they need as a food and drink is water and kibble. Kibble can easily be purchased at a dog store and it does not really matter what kind of dog food you will purchase them but, I do recommend that you stick to plain kibble instead of stuff that has a food coloring {food dye} like red, orange, blue, green, and many more that can contain some type of coloring or food dye. . This is because sometimes a brand of dog food might have something like food dye in it and you probably don't know this but food dye is one of the foods that Bichon definitely can not have. When it comes to buying stuff for your dog like leashes and collar it is the same as the crate. It's the bigger the dog is the more expensive the leash or collar is. Another thing about the leash is you need to make sure that it is long enough so that they have enough to be able to run around. Then when you are buying a collar you should be able to fit your finger between their neck and the collar if you can't then it is probably too small and if you can fit a couple of fingers or even if it's just two that would probably mean that the collar is just too big for them to wear because you also don't want the collar to fall off of them at any time especially any time they are playing outside. As you can see from reading this, Bichon Frise are very easy to take care of in many ways like they are not that expensive to buy stuff for and they are also a smaller dog helping in many different ways.

In final consideration, you can see that a Bichon Frise is a very good choice to consider when it comes to picking out the right dog you want to get or adopt sometime in the later future. You might even have realized why it is so hard to find a dog sometimes reading this and you might have learned how you are going to find a good dog to get later. As said before many people struggle with finding the perfect dog when that perfect dog doesn't even exist because no dog is perfect because every dog is different than all the other dogs in the world. If the perfect dog doesn't even exist then it is impossible for any dog in the whole entire world to match exactly what you want to buy but, one of the closest dogs to being perfect is the Bichon Frise. As said before Bichon Frise are not too small or not too big, but they are just right in dog size and even weight. Bichon Frise are the best dog breed in the world to have for many different reasons. Bichon Frise are one of the best dog breeds you could have because they are very active and energetic to help you through the day when you are tired or just needing someone to cheer you up, they are very friendly making them also very gentle and nice, and finally they are very easy to take care of for many reasons like their size, weight and many other things as well that they are just right at. As you can see overall Bichon Frise are a very nice dog breed to have. Now wrapping up when you are considering getting a dog you should try a Bichon Frise as the dog you look at later on.
