

How to cite a viewpoint article from Opposing Viewpoints database

Example article:

The screenshot shows the interface of the Opposing Viewpoints in Context database. At the top, there is a search bar and navigation links for 'Browse Issues', 'Maps', and 'Curriculum Standards'. The article title is 'The Sale of Human Organs Is Unethical' by Debra Budiani-Saberi and Deborah M. Golden. Below the title, there is a 'Listen' button and a paragraph of text. The text discusses the ethical implications of organ transplantation, mentioning the demand for organs and the exploitation of the poor. A quote from Yuri, a 29-year-old Egyptian man, is also included. At the bottom, there is a 'Source Citation' section with the following text: 'Saberi, Debra Budiani, and Deborah M. Golden. "The Sale of Human Organs Is Unethical." Is Selling Body Parts Ethical? Ed. Christine Watkins. Detroit: Greenhaven Press, 2013. At Issue. Rpt. from "Advancing Organ Donation Without Commercialization: Maintaining the Integrity of the National Organ Transplant Act." 2009. Opposing Viewpoints in Context. Web. 4 Nov. 2015.'

This article was published in the anthology Is Selling Body Parts Ethical? The anthology is a print book in the "At Issue" series. (Books in this series contain a collection of essays taken from various sources.) From the clues in the sample citation at the end of the article ("Rpt. from"), we can guess that the article in the book was originally published in another source in 2009 under another title, "Advancing Organ Donation ..." We'll have to guess that the article was originally published in a journal since no publication information is given.

Cite it in NoodleTools as a journal article reprinted in an anthology and found in a database:

1. Start with "Database"
