Holicong Music FAQ's

My child plays piano or guitar, not a traditional band/orchestra instrument. How can they get involved?

- We like to suggest that these students give chorus a try in 7th grade so they “get their foot in the door” of the music program as a whole. They may find that they enjoy chorus even if they don’t think of themselves as singers. Piano and guitar players can audition for jazz band in the fall. Piano players can also audition in the fall to be choir accompanists. Students should listen to morning announcements to hear about these opportunities.
- Another option for piano players is to sign up for band and play a mallet instrument such as the bells and the xylophone. Piano skills translate very well to playing these instruments, and several current mallet players at Holicong came to the band program as piano players. Please reach out to Mr. C if you are interested in this option.

What about electric bass players?

- Electric bass players would be welcome in band or orchestra class as long as they read music notation and not just “tabs”. Email Mr. Chodoroff and Mrs. Repper to find out which class is best.

Are there any opportunities for students who write their own songs, etc.?

- Holicong traditionally has a coffeehouse night in the fall to feature student singers, songwriters, poets and instrumentalists (this year, we did it online!!). We also have talent shows at the end of the year. And, of course, we encourage these students to enroll in choir class for an awesome music experience!

Doubling

- Even though you can only enroll in one music class (band, choir, orchestra) in 7th grade, it is possible to participate in more than one of these groups.
- If you play an instrument and also want to sing:
 - First, sign up for band/orchestra as your music class for next year.
 - Then email Mr. Glaser (jglaser@cbsd.org) and your Holicong guidance counselor, Mrs. Louderback (blouderback@cbsd.org) to let them know you want to also participate in chorus.
 - When you get to Holicong, you’ll occasionally come to chorus class during your resource period or band/orchestra class so that you can be a part of both groups.
- If you play both a band instrument and an orchestra instrument:
 - Sign up for either of the two as your music class for next year.
 - Then, email Mr. C. (ichodoroff@cbsd.org) and Mrs. Repper (jrepper@cbsd.org) and your Holicong guidance counselor, Mrs. Louderback (blouderback@cbsd.org) to let them know you want to be involved in both band and orchestra.
 - You will split your time between band and orchestra class so you can be a part of both groups.
 - If you also want to sing in addition to being in band and orchestra, please include Mr. Glaser on the email and indicate that in your message!
