Mrs. Losey’s Example:

“There is more treasure in books than in all the pirate’s loot on Treasure Island.” ~Walt Disney

I chose this quote because I love reading. I believe that reading is an escape from everything, a chance to relax and enjoy the trials and tribulations of others. It’s the chance to live vicariously through others and experience places, cultures and people you might never encounter in real life. I also believe that reading makes you smarter! You learn new words, historical facts, different writing styles, and so much from every book. My favorite genre of books is realistic fiction, but I am willing to try lots of others. I especially enjoy books set in local regions or with characters I can relate to in some ways. I am not a huge fan of science fiction, though, and I often struggle to find titles I love in that genre.

The other reason I chose this specific quote is because it is said by Walt Disney, one of the most inspirational people in the world. I love Disney World and have visited a few times in recent years with me family. But, I also appreciate what Walt Disney has done to advance the world of animation, innovation, technology, and engineering. It’s amazing what he was able to bring to life for so many people to enjoy. His accomplishments inspired, and continue to inspire, people every single day, and making that kind of lasting impact is awesome.
