

Linden Welcomes Author and Illustrator Floyd Cooper February 10th

With more than 100 children’s books published and more than 2,000 book cover illustrations, Floyd has established himself as a master craftsman of children’s literature and illustration. He has received numerous awards and praise for his work. The illustrative technique Floyd uses is called oil wash on board. He paints an illustration board with oil paint and uses a stretchy eraser to make a picture. He calls this method, “subtractive process”. We are happy to welcome Floyd to present to grades K through 4.

The Doylestown Bookshop is happy to offer this book to you at a discount. All books are hardcover.
