

Framing Your Thoughts Reference Sheet

Sentence Part	Symbol	Function	Examples
Sentence Frame		A sentence is framed with a capital letter and ends with a stop sign	The dog sleeps.
Subject		Names the person, place or thing sentence is about (Noun)	girl dog he cat we I
Predicate		Tells action of the subject (Verb)	run jumps thinks loves flies
Sentence Formula (Bare bone sentence)		A sentence needs a subject word plus a predicate word.	Birds chirp. Stars twinkle.
Predicate Expanders *Where *How *When *Why		Expands or tells more about the predicate (Adverbs)	Where - in, out, over, under, beside, along How - ly words, like, as When -since, during, after, yesterday Why -because, so, to, for

Sentence Part	Symbol	Function	Examples
Subject Describers *Looks/Physical Attributes *Behaves *Ownership *Number *Set Apart Interrupter	 	Describes or tells more about the subject (Adjectives) "interrupts" thought between subject and predicate (adds interest and glitz)- can be lifted out Needs commas	Looks-brown, fluffy Behaves-sneaky, fun Ownership- Bobby's Number- Each, Many, One, Two, Several Set Apart- This, those, these, that Mary, my best friend, sings in the choir.
Connector		Used with compound subjects or compound predicates	and
Key point		A good paragraph is built around one key point.	Steel Force is the greatest roller coaster.
A paragraph is a group of sentences working together to develop one key point.		Built around one key point Key point=topic sentence Body is made up of supporting sentences to make key point clear and convincing Ends with a restatement sentence - it closes key point.	Dogs make great pets. Dogs are good companions. Dogs are loyal. Puppies are entertaining. Dogs are wonderful pets.