

Case of the Missing Cheese

Mike Mouse stepped into the Cheese Museum. "Detective Mouse here!" he said.

A pretty brown mouse ran up to him. "I am so glad you're here," she said. "Someone stole our prize cheese!"

Mike Mouse saw a glass case in the middle of the room. The case was empty. "Aha," he said. "Did you keep the cheese in here?"

The pretty mouse nodded. "Yes. It was here last night. But now it is gone."

Mike Mouse looked at the case. He slowly walked around it. There was a big paw print on the glass. There was a white hair on the floor. Mike Mouse picked up the hair.

"I have found two clues," he said. "Do not worry about your missing cheese. I will solve the case soon!"