September 2020

Dear Families:

Thank you for your patience and support as we begin the 2020 school year. We are working around the clock to provide your children with a meaningful education. One of our goals for CB students is to develop lifelong reading habits. In the spring of 2016, our district welcomed Penny Kittle, author of Book Love and many other titles, to share her motivating teaching stories with our faculty. During her visit she provided teachers with advice, inspiration, and practical strategies on how to increase the volume and complexity of texts our students read, create a balance of student and teacher assigned texts, and build classroom libraries with themes that matter to 21st century students. Our teachers and students have had great success with applying her strategies!

Our goal is to have students reading on a regular basis because they want to. There are times during the year where reading independently will include a book the entire class is reading together. Other times, your child will be reading a book of their choice, either for their own pleasure or for an independent reading activity assigned to them. When this occurs, we encourage students to choose books of interest to them. When students do this, they are more motivated and engaged in the book, and they will find meaning in the text. We encourage your involvement as your child selects independent reading books. If you ever have a question about a book your child has selected for independent reading, please reach out to the classroom teacher or school librarian for assistance. Additionally, you can visit the following websites for information about a title:

- The School Library Journal <http://www.slj.com/>
- The American Library Association <http://www.ala.org/>
- Common Sense Media <https://www.commonsensemedia.org/>

Our priority is to foster a rich and enjoyable reading life for all. If you discover you are not comfortable with an independent reading selection your child has made, you can redirect your child to a book that better upholds the values that your family honors. Since we, as teachers, cannot read every book available to our students, you play a critical role. Thank you for supporting reading in your child's life and helping to determine if a title is appropriate for your child.
