The Show Must Go On

My teacher announced tryouts for a solo at our yearly concert. I was excited. I practiced my song every day and it paid off because I got the solo! My friend Emily congratulated me. The concert came, and I was so nervous. When I stepped on stage, I forgot the words of my song. Then, my teacher started singing, and I sang along. I hit the last high note and bowed.

“I did it!” I exclaimed.

Mrs. Thomas announced tryouts for a solo at the yearly concert. Morgan really wanted the solo, so she practiced every day until tryouts. Her hard work paid off. “Emily, I got the solo!” Morgan exclaimed. “No surprise,” Emily said. At the concert, Morgan stepped on the stage and was silent. Then her teacher started singing. Morgan sang along and soon she was hitting the last high note. Morgan bowed.

“You were amazing,” Emily said.
